TCHS BAND DIRECTOR NAMED ONE OF “50 DIRECTORS WHO MAKE A DIFFERENCE”

LEWISVILLE —Lance Flisowski, band director at The Colony High School, was recently named one of “50 Directors Who Make a Difference” by “School Band and Orchestra” magazine.

Flisowski has raised the bar for The Colony High School Band. He was the only director chosen to represent the state of Texas on this prestigious list.

“There are two main points I want our band students to learn during their time in our program,” Flisowski said. “The first is a love of music. We strive to expose our students to many genres of music, composers from different time periods and different ensembles. The second thing, and perhaps to me the most important, are the concepts of commitment and hard work. With hard work and dedication you can achieve great things.”

The Colony High School Principal Becky MacDonald is proud to have Flisowski at the helm of the school’s band program.

“We are very proud of the designation Lance has been given,” MacDonald said. “It is well deserved. Lance Flisowski has taken The Colony High School to a new level of excellence and he has done so by stressing the importance of the total band program. He not only emphasizes the importance of the marching band and concert band, but also plays an active role in our orchestra.”
