PARENT MENTAL HEALTH GUIDE

'Why Try' is an organization that focuses on teaching Social Emotional learning activities to families and students to help motivate them through relationship, relevance and resilience. They are offering a free parent guide during the summer. I enjoy utilizing their methods when working with your students and encourage you to take a look!

Regina DeLeon is CIS of North Texas' Director of Mental Health and hosted a recent webinar on 'Recognizing Anxiety and Stress in Children'. She discusses signs, symptoms and coping strategies that could be beneficial if you are looking for a resource to help you, your student and/or family. She even discusses these signs and strategies with her daughter who is in elementary school to give the listener a child's perspective!
