

Starting a conversation with your kids about substance abuse is hard, but it may be your best defense in safeguarding them. Coming home in the next week is a table topper with conversation starters for your family. It is our hope that these will help start and keep the conversation going.

Attached are pictures for how the cards will look when folded. If you have any questions, please reach out to Mrs. Eatwell.

